

Breathwork Sessions with Bec

Welcome beautiful soul!

Thank you for your interest in working together. This page gives you everything you need to know before we begin, so you can feel informed, prepared, and at ease.

What Is Rebirthing Breathwork?

Rebirthing breathwork is a gentle yet profound conscious connected breathing practice. Through the breath, we create the conditions for the body and nervous system to release deeply held tension, emotion, and old patterns — often ones that words alone can't reach.

Sessions are held in a safe, supportive container with a trauma-informed approach. You don't need any previous experience, just a willingness to show up and breathe.

About Me

I bring a grounded, trauma-informed approach to this work, with experience supporting clients through deep healing—from those navigating trauma and nervous system dysregulation, to professional athletes using the breath as a tool for performance and recovery. My practice is rooted in the science of the body and a deep respect for what can't always be explained.

What makes my approach a little different is the container I create. Every session is deeply personal-shaped around you, your history, and where you are right now. I work slowly and gently, always led by what your body and nervous system are ready for. There is no pushing, no performing, and no pressure to have a particular experience.

At the heart of everything is safety. I understand that the body holds more than words can express and that real change happens when people feel genuinely held. Creating that environment of trust isn't something I add to the work. It is the work.

If you're navigating something difficult, looking to go deeper, or simply curious about what breathwork can offer spiritually or emotionally, you are welcome here exactly as you are.

What to Expect in a Session

Each session is tailored to you. In general, a session includes:

- A check-in conversation to understand where you are and set an intention
- A guided breathing journey (the main practice)
- Time to rest, integrate, and debrief after

Sessions can bring up emotions, physical sensations, or unexpected insights — this is a normal and healthy part of the process. You will always be supported throughout.

Session length: 1.5 to 2 hours (the initial session is typically closer to 2 hours)

Location Options

We can work together in whichever setting feels right for you:

- At my space — a calm, private environment set up for this work
 - At your home — I come to you (please note a travel fee may apply)
 - Online — via video call; you will need a quiet, private space where you can lie down comfortably

Pricing

Option	Investment
Single session	4,000 THB
Package of 3 sessions	3,500 THB per session (10,500 THB total)
Integration call (~1 hour)	1,000 THB

A note on integration calls

I highly recommend booking an integration call in the days following your breathwork session. This is a space to process what came up, make meaning of your experience, and support lasting change. It is a separate, optional add-on to any session.

Payment

Payment is accepted via:

- Cash (Thai Baht)
- Bank transfer via Wise

Payment details will be shared directly. Payment is due at the time of your session.

Before We Begin — Health Forms

Prior to your first session, I will send you two short forms to complete:

1. Session Intake Form — to help me understand you and your needs before we meet
2. Disclaimer Agreement — to ensure we are both clear on the nature of the work

These are kept strictly confidential and exist only to support your safety and wellbeing.

Cancellation Policy

Please give as much notice as possible if you need to reschedule. We can discuss the specifics of the cancellation policy during our initial call.

Questions?

Please don't hesitate to reach out if you have any questions before our session. I'm looking forward to working with you.

With love,

Bec x

All sessions are held with full confidentiality, care, and a trauma-informed approach. Your comfort and safety are always the priority.
